WATER COMPANY SUED.

Suit for $1,734 45 was filed at Louisville by the Heine Safety Boiler Company against the Maysville Water Company.

The plaintiff claims that in compliance with a contract made in May, 1895, it de livered to the defendant two Heine pat ent safety boilers, formerly used by the Beston Heating Company, for which, it is alleged, defendant agreed to pay $2,150.
Of this, it is alleged, only $750 has been

There are also due, it is alleged, small

On the other hand, THE LEDGER learns hat the Water Company resists payment on the ground that the beilers do not ome up to the requirements, and to what the manufacturers guaranteed.

They were to accomplish certain re sults with a specific expenditure of fuel but they have failed to do so.

WHAT A MESS!

How the Democrats Lift the State Completely Bankrupt.

A special from Lexington says the Northern Bank, which is the State De-pository there, has refused to pay the January claims of the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum, amounting to $13,000. The state already owes the Northern Bank $90,000 for money advanced to pay the Eastern Kentucky Lunatic Asylum claims. The officials of the bank say they ciaims. The officials of the bank say they will not loan the state any more money until the Legislature takes some steps to-ward paying the amount already duction. The Lexington Board of Education finds itself without money to run the city chools. The $28,000 due the city from schools. The 825,000 due the city from the State School Fund is past due and will not be available until the first of July. State employes will be given war-rants on the State Treasury for the amounts due them, but the banks have already given notice that they will share there warrants S per cent., and some of the banks radies to discount them at any the banks refuse to discount them at any price.

The little daughter of Mr. Fred Webber, Holland, Mass., had a very bad cold and cough which he had not been able to cure with any thing. I gave him a 35 cent bottle of Chamberlan's Cough Remedy, asy W. P. Holden, merchant and Postmaster at West Brimfield, and the next time I aw him he said it worked like a charm. This remedy is intended especially for acute throat and lung diseases such as colid, croup and whooping cough, and it is famous for its cures. There is no danger in giving it to children for it contains nothing fajurious. For sale by J. James Wood, Druggiet.

HIS NATIVE HOME.

Hon. Charles H. Collins Has Not Forgotten Old Maysville.

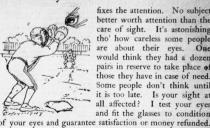

HILLSBORO, O., Feb. 8th, 1896 Editor Public Ledger: I received the collowing slip giving an account of J. M. LeMoine, F. R. S. of Quebec, who is to Canada and Quebec especially what the late Lewis Collins and his son, Richard H. Collins, were to Kentucky, and the late Henry Howe was to Ohio and Vir-ginia, the great authority and chronicler of events. The slip was written for or events. The sup was written for Progress, a St. John paper, New Bruns-wick, by Rev. Arthur John Lockhart of Hampden Corner, Me., a scholar, a gen-tleman and a writer of both prose and verse of great reputation in Eastern cir cles, while at the same time a devoted Minister of the Gospel. My aunt, Mrs. Emily Dobyns, knows of him through gus," so do most of our Ohio people. I submit the slip, together with the most beautiful and artistic poem of the last decade, addressed by Mr. Lockhart to Mr. LeMoine, and thus hope to introduce him to my old home—my native home— never forgotten, but fresh in my memory as when as schoolboy I carried a satch along the banks of the beautiful river and attended the old academy of Rand & Richeson (the Rugby School of Kentucky.) Mrs. Robert A. Cochran (who so lately lost by death a husband whom I knew but to respect and esteem) was a pupil, and many other ladies and present business men of Maysville in the days detween 1845 and 1850. C. H. Collins. Another gentleman (a well known Ca nadian writer) who grows actively an gracefully old, is "Jonathan Oldbuck, who reads for us the legends of "Mapl Leaves"-alias J. M. LeMoine, F. R. S. C., of Spencer Grange, Quebec. He is a living chronicle of the most romantic and historic city of Canada—I had almost written of America. "Few have had such opportunities," writes a brother author, William Kirby, "as Mr. LeMoine for studying the lights and shades of the old Province of Quebec. His early training. Province of Quebec. His early training, social entourage—love of books—anti-quarian tastes and familiarity with the French idiom; his minute explorations by sea and by land of every nook and corner of his native province, and even beyond it, the whole jotted down by day in his dairy, naturally funishes him with exceptional facilities to deal with Cana dian subjects in a light or in a serior vein." Mr. LeMoine is a well known figure in the streets of his native city, a patriarch of the literary and social assemblies there, and the cicerone and entertainer of many a celebrated guest who visits Stadacona. His fine presence and cordial spirits can but brighten and adorn any society; and his lips seem to give a voice to the stones of the street, and the walls that encompass that home of history wherein he dwells. nearly fifty years he has been in the public service; having, while yet a young man, been appointed to succeed his father in the Department of Inland Revenue, of which he is the Superintendent for the Eastern section of the Province of Que-bec. He finds his official duties absorb his time and attention quite exclusively at certain seasons, while at others he is allowed considerable leisure for favorit studies and recreations

Life Boats Mashed in an Attempt to Launch Them.

The Futhful Little Dog.

The markable illustration of a dog is intelligence has occurred in Sutton. A married lady there has a small pet, and on her removal to a London hospital, owing to ill health, the animal became greatly distressed, running hither and thither in search of his mistress to whom he was greatly statched. A week afterward the dog disappeared, and two days later returned to his home footsore and weary. It subsequently transpired that the faithful terrier had found his way to the hospital where his mistress lay. No one guided him, and het raveled the whole way alone. He waited about for hours trying to gain admission, and finally, after many rebuffs, succeeded in running into the hospital and finding the bed where the lady lay. With great delight he halled her, and after satisfying himself that she was safe, he trotted back to Stoton, about fourteen miles distant.
